

I choose to join Adler as a developer intern because of its innovative approach to technology and its commitment to fostering a collaborative and supportive learning environment.

Adler should want to work with me because I bring strong technical skills in software development and a passion for learning, ensuring I can contribute effectively while growing within the team.

Yes, I'm passionate about creativity, which I bring into my role as a developer. This artistic mindset helps me approach problems with innovative solutions and think outside the box in my coding projects.

One important truth I believe is that creativity is just as crucial in software development as technical skills. Many see coding as purely logical, but I find that innovative thinking and creativity often lead to the most effective and elegant solutions.
